

The ROUTE and CAMPSITES of LEWIS and CLARK — 1805-1806
Mouth of the Yellowstone River — Summit of Lolo Pass

LEGEND

● Campsite for the evening indicated by the date.
If no year is given, the year is 1805 except for Lewis's return to Great Falls and his exploration of the Marias in 1806 and Clark's exploration of the Yellowstone in 1806.
The Captains' initials are shown for a given date whenever the two Captains did not camp together.
Example:
● 10 AUG (L) = Lewis's campsite from the evening of 10 August 1805 to the morning of 11 August.

Route by land

I-90 Interstate Route Number
US 87 US Route Number
Mt 200 State Route Number
Hwy 278 Other Route Number

Note: Owing to river changes since 1805-06, campsites shown on this map may not fall on the present river nor will they necessarily be on the same side of the river that the Captains indicated.

UNITED STATES
DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR
GEOLOGICAL SURVEY

STATE OF MONTANA

Scale 1:5,000,000
1 inch equals approximately 80 miles

Source: U.S. Geological Survey, 1987

Map by
Robert N Bergantino
Butte, Montana
© September 1997

Robert N Bergantino
Butte, Montana
© September 1997